

United States House of Representatives

August 7, 2008

Dear Member of the Democratic Caucus,

The American people expect Congress to work toward solutions for their everyday problems. Right now, the biggest challenge facing most American families is the price of energy. But on August 1st Speaker Nancy Pelosi adjourned the House of Representatives for a five-week vacation, continuing to ignore this crisis. Americans rightly expect more from us as their elected representatives.

House Republicans have remained on the floor speaking directly to the chorus of Americans filling the House Visitors Gallery requesting that Speaker Pelosi reconvene the House and allow a vote on a comprehensive, common-sense approach to reducing the price of energy.

If you agree that Congress should not be taking a five-week vacation until we address the energy crisis, will you join us in publicly calling on Speaker Pelosi to reconvene the House and allow a vote on increasing American-made energy?

We, and the American people, anxiously await your reply.

Sincerely,

John Boehner
Republican Leader

Adam Putnam
Republican Conference Chair

Thaddeus McCotter
Republican Policy Chair

John Carter
Republican Conference Secretary

David Dreier
Ranking Member, Rules Committee

Roy Blunt
Republican Whip

Eric Cantor
Chief Deputy Whip

Kay Granger
Republican Conference Vice Chair

Tom Cole
Republican Congressional Committee Chair